Sunny Hill Energy Partners with Top Legal Firm

SAN JOSE, Calif. — Sunny Hill Energy is pleased to announce a strategic partnership with Cooley, Godward & Kronish, LLP. Cooley's superior track record as an industry leader in legal representation for clean technology, is an asset to Sunny Hill Energy's growing solar finance business.

Sunny Hill Energy chose Cooley, Godward & Kronish because of the firm's proven dedication to working with investors and entrepreneurs who are developing new materials and technologies. Founder, Chairman and CEO Peter S. Be, Sr. says, "Cooley's conscientious approach to clean technology is a perfect fit for what we do."

Be added, "We believe our nation is on the tipping point of a green revolution fueled by innovation, public support, and sheer necessity. We are passionate about renewable energy, and believe the only intelligent and sustainable choice is to 'go green' today, before it is too late."

Sunny Hill Energy's philosophy is that solar energy is the most viable and cost-effective form of energy available today and that with proper financing, solar energy can immediately reduce the overall energy costs of the average residential or non-residential client. It is Sunny Hill Energy's mission is to make solar an affordable and mainstream source of energy for the public, through approachable financing.
